FLOWLINING

In the striking process the metal of the planchet is compressed between the two dies. It is also forced outward from the center. This lateral movement may have a cumulative effect upon the dies. The effect can be observed as radial lines across the surface of the coin. Some of these radial lines are a natural product of the metal stretching. However, when they appear in the same place and pattern on many coins, it is apparent that the lines are transferred from the surface of the die. These lines can also be observed at the points of greatest resistance. Often the points of the stars on the obverse or the letters of the reverse legend become connected to the rims because of this effect.

NEW JERSEY NUMISMATIC SOCIETY
700TH MEETING AUCTION
April 15, 1996

Maris 8f New Jersey Copper Replica Patterns,
Errors and Special Mule Coins by Ron Landis of the Gallery
Mint Museum

TERMS AND CONDITIONS:

1. All sales final at final hammer price.
2. Payment in cash or check only.

LOT #1 In pencil on flip insert by Ron Landis "MY 1ST DIE LARGE DATE LARGE "A"" In ink on flip insert by Dennis Wierzba "MAY BE UNIQUE LANDIS WAS NOT SATISFIED" Date thicker and less regular, particularly the "1", than the final issued replicas. The thicker "A"s give a richer appearance. Well centered.

Bid 21

Sale Price 21

LOT #2 In pencil on flip insert by Ron Landis "THIS ONE IS MORE ACCURATE REPRO. DATE IS HAND CUT" Only Maris experts will be able to note the accuracy of the statement. An outstanding example.

Bid 22

Sale Price 22

LOT #3 Slightly Off-Center strike. On obverse parts of Nova Caesarea missing. On reverse a small portion of the bottom of the shield and the top of the N in "N*J*" is missing. This is almost certainly a production error.

Bid 27

Sale Price Cool Feldman

LOT #4 Shift Double Strike 30%. This appears to be a well struck piece which didn't quite make it out of the press before the next strike. On the obverse the result is that only 30% of the bottom (plow beam and date) remain of the original strike. On the reverse only "*NUMISMATIC*" and the three points of the shield remain of the original strike.
An interesting piece for the error collector.

Bid 58

Sale Price Cool Feldman

LOT #5 Full Obverse Brockage. Full strike on obverse. Reverse with imprint of obverse caused by second coin in press on second strike. Likely match with LOT #6.

Bid 50

Sale Price Dennis W

LOT #6 Full Reverse Brockage. Full strike on reverse with die break at the "*" under the 1996 or a defect in planchet. Obverse with imprint of reverse caused by second coin in press on second strike. Likely match with LOT #5.

Bid 45

Sale Price Mike Fey

LOT #7 Deerhead Obverse with NJNS Reverse Mule. This is the Deerhead obverse featured in Coin World. Presumable the only one made.

Bid 100

Sale Price Harry Rignol

NOTE: All comments and descriptions are believed to be accurate but you are on your own. I have trouble seeing fine detail without a stereo microscope and the only Harris I know is Roger.

Clubs

Several members of the GSNA received certificates to honor their membership in the club since its inception 25 years ago. The club also celebrated 25 years of life membership in the ANA. From left are Frank Dolan, Tom Hyland, Rich Berberian, Steve Sauchelli, Bob Beels, Jim Majoros, Doug Del Guercio and Pete Wacker.

GSNA reaches ANA 25

The Garden State Numismatic Association, and in turn several of its founding members, received certificates for the organization's 25-year membership in the American Numismatic Association.

The GSNA holds ANA club life membership No. 17.

The members who received the honor were Bob Beels, president; Frank Dolan, vice president; Doug Del Guercio, treasurer; Tom Hyland, bourse chairman; Rich Berberian, journal editor; Steve Sauchelli, club representative; Jim Majoros, corresponding secretary; and Pete Wacker, recording secretary.

For additional information, contact Jim Majoros, 65 16th St., Toms River, NJ 08753 or e-mail major@ameri-com.com.

NOW offers plethora

The winter NOW News, a quarterly periodical of the Numismatists of Wisconsin, contains several stories ranging from pieces provided by the Gold Institute and the Silver Institute, plus items written by various NOW members.

Bill Brandimore writes on "1799 Toll Road Tickets Doubled as Currency," while Tom Casper examines "Cracker Jack Presidential Tokens."

For more information about the organization, write NOW, P.O. Box 155, Mazomanie, WI 53560.

DWMC keeping in touch

Following an erroneous report regarding the death of one of its members that was actually quite alive and kicking, Dedicated Wooden Money Collectors president Bill Snider decided it would be best to facilitate communication lines between all club members.

He addresses this issue in the December Timber Lines, encouraging members to use the information provided on DWMC officers in each issue, plus offering his own e-mail address.

To contact Timber Lines, write Darrell E. Luedtke, Editor, 9957 W. Margaret Lane, Franklin, WI 53132-9791.

HCC wraps up elections

As described in the December issue of 2 Cents Worth, the Hillside, Ill., Coin Club held its elections with "fast results."

The winners were Dennis Fuller for president, replacing Russ Wajda, Kevin Blocker as the vice president, Reid Geisler in the treasurer position and Sharon Blocker closing out the quartet at secretary.

Write the HCC at P.O. Box 750, Hillside, IL 60162-0750.

'Chatter' lists nominees

In preparation for next year, the Chicago Coin Club announced nominees for its officer positions at its Nov. 8 meeting.

The list was published in the December edition of the Chatter. The only contested position is for director, with William Burd, Jeff Rosinia and William Bierly vying for the position.

Meanwhile, Carl Wolf stands ready in the president slot, Robert Feiler is the only one up for first vice president, followed by Donald Dool at second vice president.

Another position includes Phil Carrigan for archivist.

Inquire about the CCC at P.O. Box 2301, Chicago, IL 60690, or visit the club's online site maintained by Chatter editor Paul Hybert at www.ece.iit.edu/~prh/coins/cc.html.
